- Applications Filtration
The admission committees in the faculties may use to filter postgraduate applications:

- Academic qualifications: GPA requirements or expect a certain level of academic performance relevant undergraduate degrees.
- Relevant experience: Some programs may require prior work experience in the field or related discipline. Applicants may need to provide evidence of their work experience through resumes, cover letters, and recommendation letters.
- Letters of recommendation: some programs may request a certain number of letters of recommendation from academic or professional referees to support the applicant's suitability for the program.
- Research interests (proposal): some programs may require research proposals. The committees evaluate applicants based on research interests, publications, and prior research experience.
- Language proficiency: some programs may require specific language proficiency scores for non-native English speakers.
- Personal statement (Interview): Applicants are invited to appear to outline their motivation for applying to the program, career aspirations, and how it aligns with their interests and skills.

- Developing Applicants' Profiles

Applicants must upload documents such as academic transcripts, certificates, language proficiency IELTSs, and research proposals to be evaluated by the faculties.

- Evaluation Committee

The dean of faculty upon the request from PG dean, form an ad hoc. The ad hoc committee typically consists of faculty members who are experts in the applicant's field of study. The committee reviews the applicant's academic record, research experience, letters of recommendation, and personal statement. The committee then discusses the applicant's qualifications and makes a recommendation to the Postgraduate Centre.

- Communicating the results to prospective students

The communication of application results to prospective PG students is an important part of the admissions process. Applicants are informed of the status of their applications in a timely, clear, concise, and professional manner, whether they are accepted, placed on a waiting list, or denied

- Registration

Before they can register for postgraduate study, students must accept the terms of the University's offer of admission and make payment arrangements with the Finance Officer.

Higher CGPA are given priority. Successful candidates to the postgraduate programs will be notified to submit the original of their requirement documents for attestation, as per Ministry of Higher Education rules and regulations. A notification of admission is to be in writing and should include:

- Student's name and personal identity number,
- Information concerning the type of PG Program the student has chosen to pursue.
- The study period to obtain the attended PG degree.

4.11 Student ID card

The Student ID Card is issued by the Admission and Registration Department at the time a student completes registration. In the case of loss of the ID card, the student has to fill in an application for replacement and pay 3 OMR.

4.12 Admission with 'Advanced Standing'

Recognition of prior learning may be considered where appropriate, and credit of the University granted for prior studies. Students who have undertaken postgraduate studies at other higher education institutions may apply for advanced entry on this basis, where a candidate can demonstrate (by means of evidence) that particular assessment or progression requirements of the planned program have been met. The candidate must be able, by completion of the remaining requirements, to demonstrate that all outcomes of the programme can be met.

A candidate may therefore be admitted to any appropriate point in the program on the basis of Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) where the completion of relevant courses or programmes is certified.

Application of the above can result in exemption from particular courses in a program which the student will not therefore be required to take (nor the assessments). However, a precise match between prior learning outcomes and skills must be securely demonstrated, with evidence in the form of certification or a portfolio of work provided. Currency of either type of prior learning must be carefully considered (periods of currency of prior learning may vary between subjects, for example in languages compared with computing or science subjects). Prior learning of either type must be rigorously considered and assessed within the University by those with the appropriate subject expertise to do so. The evidence must be retained (i.e. the mapping against the verified certificated learning, or the portfolio of experiential work).

For Master programs only, no more than 30% RPL will be permitted, subject to approval by the Dean and will depend on the rules and regulations of the relevant postgraduate program.

Credit will not be given for any learning which has already been submitted and credited towards an award.

Assessment of a foreign degree will be based upon the characteristics of the national system of education in Oman, the type of institution attended, its accreditation, and the level of studies completed.

4.13 Recognition of International and Overseas Qualifications

In determining the equivalence of overseas qualifications (for initial or advanced standing), the University will be guided by the advice provided by the Ministry of Higher Education Research & Innovation.

4.14 Admission of Students with Disabilities

Candidates with physical, emotional or learning disabilities must be carefully counselled before they register. Care must be taken to ensure conformity with any relevant legislation.

There are currently no formal requirements but from an ethical point of view, institutions should be able to accommodate these types of students and offer them suitable assistance and support. The University will not prevent any student from continuing his/her education because of a disability, where all other entry requirements have been met. Reasonable adjustments may be made.

4.15 Study Deferral

PG Students may apply for a study deferral until the end of the second week of a semester. If a student decides to defer after the second week, fees will not be refunded for that semester.

Students are entitled to a full refund of their tuition which has been paid during or prior to registration in the following cases:

Refund %	Description
100%	Postpone or withdrawal during two weeks from the beginning of the semester
50%	Postpone or withdrawal during third week from the beginning of the semester
25%	Postpone or withdrawal during fourth week from the beginning of the semester
0%	Postpone or withdrawal during after fourth week from the beginning of the semester

Students should complete the release form in order to make sure that there is no accommodation, transportation and/or library financial obligations. Refunds of credit balances to student accounts will only be made after completion of all required forms and document, and on receipt of a written request from the student. The payment will be made either by bank cheque or wire transfer to the student's account.

4.16 Students Withdrawal

A student must submit a request to withdraw from the University. Students will be liable for that semester's course fees unless they withdraw in the first two weeks of the semester. Before withdrawal a student must complete the release form in order to make sure that there are no financial obligations outstanding such as accommodation, transportation and/or library fees.

4.16.1 Voluntary suspension of research

Voluntary suspension in the context of a research program refers to a temporary halt or cessation of a research project or study initiated by the PG students. It is a conscious decision made by the PG student or the principal investigator to pause the project for a specific period, usually for several reasons such as further evaluation, restructuring, or addressing certain concerns. During the voluntary suspension, students typically do not engage in academic activities such as coursework, research, or attending classes. PG students are allowed to voluntary suspension after completing one semester and the suspension period should not exceed three semesters in total, whether taken continuously or separately from the period of study, after getting the University approval (The PG Centre and the student faculty).

4.17 Termination of Study

The enrolment (registration) of any student may be cancelled if that student:

- Exceeds the maximum study completion period (see section Period of Study)
- In Master program CGPA continued to be <2.00 in the third semester. Students whose GPA is 1.90 and above are to be given one additional semester to register a normal load.
- Suspended from the University

4.18 Medium of instruction

There may be occasions when a student requires extra help or guidance. For example, he/she may be late to register with good reason, may feel they are taking the wrong courses, or may wish to improve their CGPA etc. On these occasions, there is an established procedure to follow.

A student cannot expect to see the Dean, DVC Academic Affairs or the Vice Chancellor unless the following procedures are met:

- Student has talked to his/her Academic Advisor or Program Coordinator. Most issues can be resolved at this stage.
- If the issue is not resolved, then a student must complete the Special Circumstances Form (available at the back of the Handbook, on the student portal, or from Faculty Admin Office). The Advisor of a Faculty student will endorse this and arrange for a meeting with the Dean.
- The Dean will not see any student without this completed form, endorsed by the advisor.
- If the Dean considers it appropriate, a meeting with the DVC Academic Affairs will be arranged. The DVC Academic Affairs may refer the issue to a Special Circumstances Committee. The DVC will not see any student without the completed form, endorsed by the Faculty Dean.

Assessment

جامعة صحرار
Sohar University

6.1 General Assessment Procedures

The composition and format of the overall assessment (not of the individual assessment items) of each course must be vetted and approved by the faculty board.

This includes:

- types of assessment: quizzes, assignments, presentations, etc. as well as a final exam
- the relative weightage given to assessment components
- coursework assessments which will be between 40% - 60% of the total course assessment, with possible exceptions for "project" courses
- the final exam will cover the whole of the course and weigh between 40% - 60% of total course assessment, with possible exceptions for "project" courses

Details of assessment for each course, including the scheduling of assessment, will be provided to students within the Course Profile in the first week of classes, and will be available on the University Learning Management System (SULMS).

The weight of each assessment (% of final marks) item will be specified. For each individual assessment, the specific requirements and criteria for marking and grading will be stated.

This includes the learning outcomes that are to be assessed. There will be sufficient formative assessment early in the semester to support students alter their study behaviour to improve the likelihood of success.

6.2 On-Course Assessments

Coursework assessment will normally be returned to students with feedback within two weeks. Feedback to students, indicating errors, highlighting areas for improvement and showing how this may be achieved, is essential for learning. A copy of the official record of marks will be made available to students (identified by student ID number, not by student name) after the return of each major piece of assessment, both as an accuracy check and so that a student can monitor his/her level of performance during the semester.

6.3 Research Outputs Assessment

6.3.1 Research Project Assessment<sup>3</sup>

For taught master programs, after completing their first semester of the second academic year and fulfilling the requirement by each faculty, students need to register for their projects courses. All masters' projects should be marked by an examination panel of two or more members. This should preferably take place with the second examiner unaware of grade awarded by the first marker. Two hard bound copies are to be distributed as follows:

- 1 copy to the Learning Resources Centre as well as a softcopy.
- 1 copy to the Postgraduate Centre as well as a softcopy.

6.3.2. Submission of Research Project:

The normal submission deadline for research project is the end of second semester in the last year and can be extended one more semester without academic penalties

6.3.3. Research Proposal Oral Exam (Preliminary Oral Examination)<sup>4</sup>

The Preliminary Oral Exam is designed to assess students' knowledge of major and minor fields of study, research design, and fundamental research in the degree area. The exam will last at least one hour. Oral Preliminary Examination (OPE) are the first faculty-wide evaluation of a student's research ability in the research program, e.g., Ph.D. Students are encouraged to take Oral Preliminary Examination after completing the required courses with passing grade not less than 2.0.

The research student admitted must pass the Preliminary Oral exam, which is administered by the Faculty in cooperation to the PG Centre.

All PG research students writing a dissertation or a thesis must have their supervisors write letters stating that they have read the students' works and that the works are complete and ready for defense. Prior to the Preliminary Viva session, PG research student needs to filled in the Pre-Viva Readiness Form, provide plagiarism report and to show a completion of the required courses.

The faculty of the PG research student submits the required documents to the PG Centre and recommends Pre-Viva Panel members and dates. The Centre will evaluate the information provided and the process accordingly.

After careful consideration, the Pre-Viva Panel recommends one of the following:

Acceptance of the proposal as submitted and oral examination acceptance. The required form is signed by the Pre-Viva Panel.

Acceptance of the proposal on the condition that minor changes are made, as well as acceptance of the oral examination, in which case the Pre-Viva Panel withholds signing the required form until the student makes the recommended changes.

Rejection of the proposal and/or the oral examination, in which case the required form is not signed and the student is granted permission to submit a revised proposal and/or sit for a second oral defense based on the Pre-Viva Panel's recommendation. The Supervisor, in consultation with the student, the Pre-Viva Panel, and the PG Centre, determines the date for the second oral examination.

6.3.3. Research Proposal Oral Exam (Preliminary Oral Examination)<sup>4</sup>

Master's dissertations are typically much shorter than PhD theses. This is because Master's degrees are designed to provide students with advanced knowledge in a particular field, while PhD degrees are designed to prepare students for a career in research.

Master's dissertations: The length of a Master's dissertation will vary depending on the specific requirements of the university and the field of study. However, most Master's dissertations are between 12,000 and 50,000 words long.

PhD theses: The length of a PhD thesis will vary depending on the specific requirements of the university and the field of study. However, most PhD theses are between 80,000 and 100,000 words long.

6.4 Research Assessment, Oral Examination (Viva) Process

6.4.1 Appointing Internal and External Examiners

The process of appointing examiners typically begins with the student's supervisor. The supervisor will recommend a list of potential examiners to the Postgraduate Centre. The Centre will then review the list of recommendations and make the final decision on who will be appointed.

The main requirements of the University are that:

- The University requires that all research degrees be examined by an Examiner1 (internal examiner) and an Examiner2 (external examiner). The examiner1 (Internal examiner) is typically a member of the student's faculty who has expertise in the subject matter of the dissertation or thesis. Examiner2 (External examiner) is a specialist in the student's field who is not affiliated with the university

- Supervisors are responsible for arranging for the Board of Studies to nominate examiners for the student's Thesis/Dissertation at least three months before the student is due to submit.

1. Examiners must:

- have completed their probationary period.
- Must have practice and experience on viva examination.
- have gained doctoral degrees or have equivalent experience of research.
- have appropriate subject expertise.
- have demonstrably research active.

In addition to the above, external examiners must have a standing within their own academic community.

2. Examiners must not:

- have acted in a supervisory capacity.
- Be former members of Sohar University or former postgraduates unless more than five years have elapsed since leaving the University.
- have a close relationship with the candidate e.g., have published with or worked directly with them to a significant degree within the last five years;
- Be the authors of work that forms the primary focus of the research project.

3. Between them, the examiners should normally have:

- Experience of supervising at least three students to successful completion.
- Examined three students at postgraduate research degree level.

4. Examiners are nominated by the PG Centre in coordination with faculties.

5. Supervisors are responsible for supporting the student's preparation for the oral examination and, if necessary, arranging practice in oral examination techniques.

The students should submit a copy to examiner 1 (internal examiner) and a copy to examiner 2 (external examiner). After passing the viva the student must submit 3 hard bound copies with required program color code. Once students have made a formal notice of their intention to submit, this will trigger the procedures for examination, starting with advice on the appointment of examiners and including preparation for the viva and, where appropriate, post-viva support.

6.4.2 Chairing a VIVA Panel

The chair is designed to ensure that integrity and fairness are maintained by all parties during the Viva Voce Examination. The chair, being an independent member of the panel, ensures a protection mechanism for both the student and the examiners in the event of consequent claims of misconduct or bias on behalf of the examiners.

6.4.3 Repeating Thesis/Dissertation Examination

The student is entitled to amend and resubmit the Thesis/Dissertation for re-examination if the result is not passed (Re-Viva). The Thesis/Dissertation examination committee must provide a detailed report on the additional work or changes required and the reasons for the rejection. Furthermore, a schedule for the student to resubmit the Thesis/Dissertation for examination must be specified. Re-submission must take place within one year of the student's notification date and will follow the same procedures. A third examination for the Thesis/Dissertation is not permitted.

6.4.4 Research Assessment Rubrics

A research assessment rubric is a tool used to evaluate the quality of a research paper or project. Rubrics are used to assess your research works using criteria such as Originality, Argument & understanding, Criticality & analysis and Use of sources and evidence. The Viva Voce Examination panel decides on the Thesis/Dissertation and oral presentation by majority vote at the end of the question session, placing the Thesis/Dissertation in one of four categories:

- pass.
- pass with minor corrections.
- pass with major corrections.
- Fail/(Re-Viva).

6.4.5 Thesis/Dissertation Approval

- Upon successfully finishing all VIVA requirements, the Viva panel members approved the final thesis/dissertation version.
- The student should send the program coordinator an electronic copy of the thesis/dissertation.
- The final grade should follow the university grading system.

- The VIVA Panel assesses thesis/dissertation, and a decision will be made regarding whether the thesis/dissertation is defensible or needs corrections within a specific period. If the student is recommended to make corrections to the thesis/dissertation, the supervisor's consent should be taken to resubmit the dissertation.
- The student should resubmit the final thesis/dissertation upon finishing the VIVA and writing the final version of dissertation. The student is advised to proofread it and get final feedback from the supervisor. When the supervisor checks the thesis/dissertation and makes sure that the whole work conforms to the university's requirement, you are permitted by the supervisor to submit the finalized version of the thesis/dissertation on the submission date to the PG Centre or related committees.

The VIVA Panel should approve the final version of the thesis/dissertation, and result should be to the PG Centre. The PG Centre reports to Examination Board to award the PhD degree.

6.5 Examinations Instructions for Students

Students must follow all instructions from the exam supervisors/invigilators:

- At the beginning of an exam, academic staff, normally those teaching the course, will be in attendance in order to consider queries from students. There should be few queries as all examination papers have been moderated. Academic staff will provide additional explanation in response to queries only if the instructions or examination questions are unclear.
- Students enter the examination room only after being instructed to do so by the supervisors/invigilators. This will normally be at least 15 minutes before the start of the examination so that preliminary activities can be completed.
- Students will sit where instructed by the supervisors.
- Normally, the following materials and equipment are classed as Standard Materials and are allowed in the student's possession during an exam: wristwatch, pens, pencils, sharpener, eraser, and ruler, and where relevant a non-scientific, non-programmable calculator with no data storage.
- If there are any Permissible Materials (materials in addition to the Standard Materials) which a student may have in a specific examination (e.g. drawing instruments, written material, scientific calculators, etc.), they will be listed on the front page of the exam paper. Students will have been notified of any Permissible Materials during class before the end of the scheduled lectures. Only Standard and Permissible Material may be in the student's possession or on his/her desk during the exam.

- Any other material or equipment that is not Standard or Permissible Material is Unauthorized Material (e.g. mobile phones, electronic dictionaries, MP3 players, study notes, etc.). Unauthorized Material must not be in the possession of the student or on his/her desk during an exam. If these are brought to the examination room, they must be left in a designated area of the examination room at the owner's risk. If Unauthorized Material is discovered in a student's possession or at his/her desk during the exam, the student will be charged with academic misconduct, whether the material has been accessed or not.
- No food or drink (except water or medication if needed) is permitted in the examination room.
- Students must place their official University Student Identity Card, picture side up, on the desk to be checked by a supervisor against the examination list. If a student forgets to bring their Student ID, they should notify a supervisor as soon as possible, and before receiving the examination paper. The student must go to Admission and Registration to obtain a temporary ID.
- Students must not communicate with each other or exchange any materials while in the examination room (e.g. erasers, paper, calculators, etc.).
- Students may not leave the examination room in the first 30 minutes of the exam. Any student who arrives late (up to 30 minutes) may be admitted, but no extra time will be allocated. Those arriving later than 30 minutes from the start of the examination will not be admitted.
- After the first 30 minutes, any student wishing to leave the room, either to go to the rest room or having finished the examination, must turn all papers upside down on their desk and raise their hand
  - If a student wishes to visit the restroom, he/she will be escorted by a same sex member of staff
  - If he/she has finished with the examination, he/she can leave after the examination booklet has been collected by a supervisor.
  - No student may leave the room during the last 10 minutes of the exam.

At the end of the exam, (corresponding actions will be appropriate for practical or computer examinations):

- ✓ Students must stop writing immediately, put their pen down and turn their examination script face down.

- ✓ All students must remain seated and silent until all scripts are collected and a supervisor tells them they can leave.
- ✓ Students may not remove any examination material from the examination room.

6.6 Passing a Course

In order to pass a course, a student must obtain a course grade greater than or equal to 2.0. A student who has a course grade of less than 2.0 will be deemed to have failed that course.

Failure in a Course

If a student fails a course, then the student can do one the following:

- Retake the course. If failed courses must be retaken (i.e. they are required courses) then these must have highest priority in the scheduling of a student's program and must be taken at the next offering of the course.
- If there is sufficient demand and appropriate resources available, the University may offer a re-sit exam within two/three weeks after the results have been announced. For more information on Re-Sit Examinations, please check the Resit Examination Policy which is regularly reviewed to ensure currency and alignment with University regulations.
- Where applicable, if an elective course is failed (i.e. one that is not specifically required for the Award), then the student may choose another eligible elective course if available

6.7 Re-sit Examinations

Sohar University introduced re-sit examinations to provide students with every opportunity to progress.

Each academic year, the re-sit examination period is set by the University's Examination Board and falls within the normal exam period outlined in the University calendar.

Re-sit examinations apply to both undergraduate and postgraduate courses.

A student is eligible to re-sit an examination if:

- He/she has failed a course in the semester immediately preceding the re-sit examination period.
  - His/her grade for the failed course was (1.00 to 1.99)
- Each student may attend a maximum of two re-sit examinations per semester.
  - The maximum grade awarded after a re-sit examination will be 2.00.
  - Students will carry forward all continuous assessment marks for that course.

- There will be no special examination to replace a re-sit examination.
- Individual faculties may choose to offer revision classes prior to the re-sit examination.
- Students must register for a re-sit examination by filling in the appropriate form, which is available online.

6.8 Mitigating Circumstances

If a student feels that circumstances outside of his/her control have adversely affected his/her performance, then he/she may apply for the award of a Special Examination or other form(s) of special assessment, or for the ability to withdraw from the course without academic and/or financial penalty.

Examples of circumstances that would normally justify this special consideration include:

- an acute illness rendering the student unable to carry out the assessment task as required
- a serious personal injury, such as a broken limb or one with an incapacitating effect
- being the victim of a serious crime such as robbery, burglary or a violent assault during the period immediately preceding the assessment
- a serious illness or death of a close relative: normally a partner, parent, child, sibling or grandparent
- unforeseen and unavoidable and imposed work pressures serious enough to interfere with the student's study or ability to meet an assessment deadline or sit an examination

Circumstances that would not normally be acceptable include:

- any claim not supported by reliable evidence
- financial problems or difficulties with housing
- difficulties with child-minders or other domestic or work arrangements
- travel arrangements such as airline bookings that conflict with assessment or examination timetables
- failure to attend an examination or failure to submit an assessment because of confusion over time, date or location
- retrospective medical certificates, i.e. dated/issued after a student has recovered from the illness claimed.

6.9 Consideration of Mitigating Circumstances

- Mitigating Circumstances must be formally reported to the Course Coordinator by a student within one week of the affected assessment item (a special form is available in Faculty Admin office). Documented evidence is always essential.
- The Course Coordinator granting an extension will normally deal with mitigating Circumstances which affect an individual item of coursework. In extreme circumstances, the student may be allowed to defer submission until a later date.
- Mitigating Circumstances that affect a significant portion of the course assessment or the examination will be considered by the Course Coordinator with recommendations on action to the Program Coordinator and Dean.
- A student whose claim for Mitigating Circumstances is approved will normally be reassessed with no academic penalty (i.e. mark not restricted to a threshold pass, e.g. a resit or special exam). If the student had taken the assessment and passed, then consideration may be given to upgrade the result. This will be formally approved by the University Examination Board.
- A Special Examination can be awarded by the University Examination Board. The most common reason for a Special Examination is a medical condition that prevented the student from attending or preparing for a final examination.

6.10 A Special Examination

- Is set by the University Examination Board and falls within the normal exam period outlined on the University calendar.
- Replaces the final examination in the course assessment.
- Allows students to carry forward all continuous assessment marks for that course.
- is not available as a supplement to a student not presenting himself/herself for a Special Examination
- Can be executively awarded by the Deputy Vice-Chancellor Academic Affairs in special circumstances that are assessed after the meeting of the University Examination Board
- Must be coordinated by the Faculty before announcing the final examinations results of the next semester. Otherwise, Admission and Registration will transfer the course's status from "incomplete" to "enrolled" and therefore student will be awarded zero mark in the final examination in the course assessment

Sometimes legitimate mitigating circumstances may cause a student to miss too much of a course. For example, a car accident in week 5 puts the student in the hospital for more than three or four weeks. In such a case, special consideration cannot overcome the inability of the student to fully participate in all the learning activities. When this occurs, a student must retake the course, but should be allowed to withdraw without academic or financial penalty.

Students must register for a special examination by filling in the appropriate form which is available from the faculty secretary or Registration.

6.11 Queries and Appeals against Assessment Decisions

6.11.1 Assessment Queries and Appeals

The University will deal openly and fairly with students who wish to question or appeal against assessment decisions. Students will not be penalized for questioning or appealing assessment decisions. Appeals will not be recorded on the academic record of a student.

Queries and appeals against assessment decisions can only be made by the student concerned. Third party or anonymous appeals will not be considered.

The University will encourage an informal and local (at the course and program level) resolution of student queries about assessment.

Since all grades are subject to internal marking and moderation systems and are confirmed by an Examination Board, appeals based solely on disagreement with the academic judgment of the staff who marked the assessment will not be considered.

An appeal may result in confirmation or improvement of the original grade. A grade will not be reduced as the result of a review caused by an appeal.

6.11.2 Informal Process - Queries about Assessment Results and Grades

All queries about marks and grades (e.g. why the student had received a lower mark or grade than was expected on a piece of assessment or for the whole course) should be resolved locally and in a timely manner through the following procedure.

A student should:

- Initiate the process within one week after the release of the result of an individual assessment item or the release of course grades
- Discuss the issue with the member of academic staff who was in charge of the marking of the assignment or the course. If that does not resolve the problem, then

- Discuss the issue with the Course Coordinator. If that does not resolve the problem, then
- Discuss the issue with the Program Coordinator and/or Dean of the Faculty

If this informal process does not satisfactorily answer the query, then the student can submit a formal appeal.

6.12 Guidelines: Appeals against Assessment Decisions or Awards of Special Examinations

Appeals against marks for individual assessment items or against Examination Board decisions (e.g. course grades or awards of special examinations) will not be considered if based solely on disagreement with the judgment of the examiner or the Board.

Appeals can only be upheld where:

- an administrative error has occurred
- examiners did not follow University, faculty, program or course policies, procedures or regulations
- decisions were not in accordance with natural justice and fairness.

6.12.1 Stage I Appeal against Assessment Grade

Before making an appeal, the student first must have followed the informal resolution process outlined above.

To appeal marks on an individual on-course assessment, the Stage I Appeal form (Acad Form 16) which states the case and provides evidence must be submitted to the Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs Office within one week after the release of the results of an individual assessment item or the release of course grades.

As a first step, the Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs will either rule that the appeal has no basis and dismiss it, or that a hearing will be held at which the student will attend to present his/her case and at which other witnesses may be called.

The student must be available for an interview to discuss the case with the Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs, who will attempt to resolve the issue. The student may be accompanied by a fellow student, a member of the staff of the University, or a family member.

If the Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs is unable to resolve the case to the satisfaction of the student, then the student may:

- make a formal complaint if they believe that the University's procedures are not adequate or have not been followed in the case of an individual assessment item
- take the appeal to Stage II in the case of a course grade or non-award of a special exam

6.12.2 Stage I Appeal against Non-awarding of a Special Examination

For appeals against the non-awarding of a special examination, the student must complete the Stage I Appeal form and submit it to the Deputy Vice Chancellor Academic Affairs Office. The student must be available for interview within one week after the release of the result of an individual assessment item or the release of course grades. The procedure to follow is as above.

6.12.3 Stage II Appeal

Only appeals of course grade or the non-award of special examinations can be taken to Stage II. These appeals must have gone through Stage I.

- The student must complete a Stage II appeal form (Acad Form 17) that is available from the Faculty Secretary or the Student Handbook and submit it with evidence to the VC Executive Assistant: In the third week of second semester for an appeal involving first semester courses
- Before the start of special exams for an appeal involving second semester courses

The Appeals Committee, composed of the Vice Chancellor (Chair), a Dean from a faculty other than that of the student, the Director, Quality Assurance & Accreditation (secretary) and a student who is unknown to the student making the appeal, will investigate and pass judgment.

As a first step, the committee will either rule that the appeal has no basis (6.3) and dismiss it or that a hearing will be held at which the student will attend to present their case and at which other witnesses may be called.

If a hearing is to be held, then it will be held within two weeks after the student submits the Stage II Appeal form. The student may be accompanied by a fellow-student or a member of the staff of the University or by a family member.

The decision of the Appeal Committee will be final. After the decision, the Vice Chancellor is empowered to have the authority of the University Examination Board in order to make any necessary decisions resulting from the decision of the committee.

6.13 Academic Misconduct - Principles

Sohar University aims to have an education climate in which learning and assessment are conducted with high levels of ethics and integrity. Sohah University will not tolerate academic misconduct and will strive to eliminate it from the University.

In the SU Academic Misconduct Policy, misconduct is defined as any action, or attempted action, that may result in creating an unfair academic advantage for oneself, or an unfair academic advantage, or disadvantage, for any other member, or members, of the academic community. This includes a broad array of activities such as cheating, plagiarising, altering academic documents or transcripts, gaining access to materials before they are universally available, helping a friend to gain an unfair academic advantage, infringing the rules of intellectual property, amongst many others.

6.14 Classification of Misconduct

While the list of academic misconduct is by no means definitive, and it is recognised that acts of academic misconduct may vary in degree of seriousness, a rigidly defined set of penalties is neither desirable nor practical and should thus vary with the seriousness of the offence. Therefore, the determination of a verdict, and the resultant penalty, will require judgement either by a Faculty board or, where the offence is more serious, an academic Panel, depending on the individual case.

However, to aid in determining the severity of an offence, the University has categorized academic offences into four broad principal categories; minor, significant, serious and grave.

Subsequently, penalties will vary from the following:

- Warning
- Loss of marks in an assessment
- Failure in the assessment (Marks of 0 in the assessment)
- Failure in the course (Marks of 0 in the course)
- Suspension from the University for a defined period
- Permanent expulsion from the University

A complete list of offences with a rigidly defined set of penalties is neither possible nor desirable. The determination of the verdict and the penalty will require the judgement of the panel hearing each individual case. The following are examples of offences in each category and the range of penalties that may apply.

These are for guidance and are not intended to list all possible offences and penalties.

Where an offence is deemed Minor:

There is no evidence of clear intention to gain unfair advantage.

A single minor offence is not considered to be an “Academic Offence” as covered by this policy and need not be reported to the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department or the Registration department. These cases may be handled by Program/Course Coordinators. Often in these cases, the student requires training (e.g. instruction in proper referencing) to prevent future occurrences.

Penalty: Warning or loss of marks (50%) in the assessment

Where an offence is deemed Significant:

There is evidence of premeditation to gain unfair advantage. For example:

- Repeated minor offences
- First time caught in possession of or using unauthorized material (e.g. mobile phone or “cheat sheet” with test information) during a class test weighed at less than 40%.
- Copying portions of an assignment from other students, or
- Copying information from the web or elsewhere for projects without referencing or citations

Penalty: Failure in the assessment (0 marks)

Where an offence is deemed Serious:

There is evidence of repeated offences and/or a clear premeditated attempt to significantly affect a course grade in a final year project or exam or any assessment weighted 40% and above.

For example:

- A second conviction for any of the above-mentioned misconduct actions (as listed above)
- In possession of unauthorised materials or receiving / sending a text message, email or phone call during a final year assessment
- Lack of referencing or citation in a final year project where plagiarism is detected

Penalty: Failure in the course (0 Marks)

Where an offence is deemed Grave:

This indicates behaviour that compromises the educational integrity of Sohar University's academic programs. For example:

- Conviction of a second serious offence during the student's studies at SU
- Impersonating, or allowing someone to impersonate you, in an examination
- Using third parties to create final year projects or other assignments
- Stealing, destroying or hindering another student's assessment or assignment
- Unauthorised entry to University record systems, or a lecturer's computer
- Stealing or possessing a test or exam paper physically, or electronically

Penalty: Suspension from the University for a set period (e.g. one year); or Permanent expulsion from the University; both with 0 Marks in all courses in the semester of the offence

6.15 Detection and Reporting

If an academic offence is suspected, or detected, during an assessment, then:

- Any unauthorised material must be confiscated and the student suspected of the offences' answer booklet annotated with the alleged offence, the date, time and chief invigilators name.
- The student will be permitted to continue the assessment unless his/her behaviour is disrupting the exam for others.
- After the assessment, the student is informed by the chief invigilator of the process and the student's mobile phone number is obtained.
- The chief invigilator will complete the Examination Incident Report Form describing the evidence that cheating has occurred, noting the time, date and attaching the material (or evidence, e.g. photographic). The form should be signed by the student. If the student refuses to sign the form this must be noted in the form.
- The Examination Incident Report Form will be submitted to the Dean with the letter (attached to the incident report form). The completed letter will be sent by email to the students SU email account.

If an academic offence is suspected, or detected in course work (e.g. plagiarism, fabrication etc.):

- The matter should be brought to the attention of the Course Coordinator. The Coordinator will then write a report providing details and evidence of the alleged offence and submit this report to the program Coordinator and the Dean of Faculty Head or (Head of Department).
- The Dean of Faculty Head or (Head of Department) will consult with the Program Coordinator and other academic staff involved to decide if the student will be charged with academic misconduct.
- If the decision is “no” then the action ceases. If the answer is “yes” then the case proceeds.
- In both cases, records must be kept and a copy sent to the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department.

If an academic offence is suspected, or detected in a final year project (e.g. plagiarism, lack of referencing and citation etc.):

- The matter should be brought to the attention of the Course Coordinator at the earliest. The Coordinator will then write a report providing details and evidence of the alleged offence and submit this report to the Program Coordinator and Dean of Faculty or (Head of Department).
- The Dean of Faculty or (Head of Department) will consult with the Program Coordinator and other academic staff involved to decide if the student will be charged with academic misconduct.
- If the decision is “no” then the action ceases. If the answer is “yes” then the case proceeds.
- In both cases, records must be kept and a copy sent to the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department.

6.16 Student Attendance and Notification

The student is responsible for checking his/her SU email and presenting a current mobile phone number to allow notification of hearing dates and times.

The student is responsible for attending a hearing. If the student does not attend then the hearing can proceed without him/her.

At a hearing the student may bring a member of the SU community, or a member of his/her immediate family (e.g. father, mother, brother or sister).

The student will be notified of all appointments and actions by his/her SU email. Notification will also be attempted by SMS and by phone.

6.17 Faculty Hearing for Academic Misconduct

Where an incidence of academic misconduct has been established, the following procedures take place:

- A Faculty Hearing should take place within one week of the offence in the case of assignments, projects, course work etc.
- In the case of final examinations, the Faculty Hearing should take place by the end of the exam week to allow the decision to be discussed at the Faculty Exam Board.
- The Hearing will be chaired by the Dean or his/her nominee and at least two other members of Faculty that have been nominated to hear the case.
- A member of the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department (QA and QE Officer) should also attend each hearing. The role of the member of the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department is to ensure that the proceedings align with the University policy and regulations.
- Full minutes of the Hearing must be recorded.
- If the student admits the offence, then the Hearing will decide on the appropriate penalty, as per the policy. This will be recorded in the minutes and submitted to the Faculty Exam Board.
- The Office of the Dean of Faculty is responsible for notifying the student by his/her SU email address of the penalty.
- If, on the other hand, the student contests the charge. Then the Faculty Hearing will forward the case to a University Panel for Academic Misconduct with a recommendation.
- The Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department is responsible for convening the University Panel and acts as Secretary to the meeting of the Panel.

6.18 The Faculty Hearing Membership

The Faculty Hearing is comprised of:

- The Chair (Dean or a nominee).
- At least two other Academic members of Faculty nominated by the Dean.
- A member of Institutional Planning and Effectiveness (or one nominee from outside the faculty).
- Faculty Administrator as Secretary to the meeting.

Procedure

- If the student is requested to do so, he/she is responsible for attending the Faculty Hearing. If he/she does not attend, then the Hearing can proceed without him/her.
- The Faculty, will notify the student of all appointments and actions by email (to their SU email account), and, where possible, by phone.
- The Faculty Administrator will present the evidence and any witnesses.
- The student will be asked to answer the allegations and may present witnesses, where relevant.
- If the student is found guilty, then the Panel will impose a penalty.
- The student will be notified of the decision by the Admission and Registration Department. For all decisions taken related to Final Examinations, the Admission and Registration Department will notify the student with the decision after the University Examination Board.

Records

- The Secretary will inform all necessary SU academic and administrative units (Faculty Exam Board, Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department, University Exam Board and Admission and Registration) of the events related to any academic misconduct.
- Records of all academic offences, and minutes of all Faculty Academic Misconduct Hearings, will be filed and maintained by the Office of the Dean of Faculty. A copy is to be sent to the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department and the Admission and Registration Department.
- Where applicable, the Admission and Registration Department will note convictions and penalties in the student's official University records.
- If acquitted of the charge, no record will be maintained in the student's file.

6.19 Appeals against Verdicts and/or Penalties by Faculty Hearing

Students may appeal against a decision regarding an academic offence within one week of notification of the verdict and penalty, but only on the following grounds:

- New evidence has emerged that was not previously available.
- University procedures were not correctly followed.

Appeals may not be made on the basis of continued denial of guilt or a challenge of the judgement of the Panel.

Appeals against academic misconduct must be made in writing (in English for English courses/ programs) on the form provided by the Faculty. Information or documents of any new evidence must be attached.

If the grounds for appeal are valid, the student may submit the Appeal Form and all the relevant documentation to the Deputy Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs (DVC-AA). The DVC-AA will submit his decision to the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department, which in turn will make a recommendation to the Vice Chancellor.

The Vice Chancellor may, or may not, request a meeting with the student and/or the academics involved in the case. The decision of the Vice Chancellor is final.

The Director of Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department will inform the student, and Effectiveness of the decision on his/her appeal against academic misconduct through his/her SU email account within one week of submitting the appeal.

6.20 University Panel for Academic Misconduct

Where the Faculty Hearing has forwarded a case with a recommendation to the University Panel for Academic Misconduct, the following procedures should take place:

- The University Panel for Academic Misconduct is convened by the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department, and chaired by the Vice Chancellor (or nominee).
- The Secretary (a member of the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department) will consult with the Chair and then notify the Panel members to be appointed (see Appendix B).
- The student involved in the incident will be notified of the University Panel for Academic Misconduct details by the secretary.
- The Panel must convene the hearing within one week of the Faculty Hearing, or as soon after the examination period as possible to allow the decision to be notified to the University Examination Board.
- Full minutes of the Hearing must be recorded.
- The University Panel for Academic Misconduct decision is final.
- The secretary of the University Panel for Misconduct will notify the student by his/her SU email address of the final decision.

- The secretary will send a copy of the minutes of the Panel meeting to the University Examination Board Secretary.

6.21 The University Panel for Academic Misconduct Membership

The Panel refers to the academic misconduct commission convened to assess and adjudicate the offence in question where the student in question has appealed the decision of the Faculty, following the Faculty Hearing. The Panel is comprised of:

- The Chair (Vice Chancellor or a nominee)
- The DVC Academic Affairs (or a Member of the Academic Board appointed by him)
- a Dean or Academic Head (not from either the Student's Faculty (or department), nor from the Faculty (or department) in which the alleged offence occurred)
- a SU Student Advisory Council Representative who has no conflict of interest with the student;
- a member of Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department who will act as Executive Secretary to the meeting

Procedure

- If the student is requested to do so, he/she is responsible for attending the University Hearing for Academic Misconduct. If he/she does not attend, then the Hearing can proceed without him/her.
- The Secretary of the University Hearing for Academic Misconduct will notify the student of all appointments and actions by email (to their SU email account), and, where possible, by phone.
- The Executive Secretary to the meeting will present the evidence and any witnesses.
- The student will be asked to answer the allegations and may present witnesses.
- If the student is found guilty, then the University Hearing for Academic Misconduct will impose a penalty. The student will be notified of the decision after the University Examination Board.

Records

- The Secretary will inform all necessary SU academic and administrative units (Faculties, Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department, University Exam Board Secretary, the Admission and Registration Department) of the events related to any academic misconduct.
- Records of all academic offences, and minutes of all University Hearings for Academic Misconduct will be filed and maintained by the Quality Assurance & Accreditation Department.
- The Admission and Registration Department will note convictions and penalties in the student's official University records. If acquitted of the charge, no record will be maintained in the student's file.

Supervision Guidelines

جامعة صحرار
Sohar University

To better manage the supervision process, the following points should be considered by supervisors and research students.

7.1 Assigning the supervisor

PG research student (Master by Research Student/ PhD) can have two supervisors: a main supervisor and co-supervisor as recommended by the programs and faculties. The main supervisor is typically the main point of contact for the student and is responsible for their overall progress. The co-supervisor supervisor may have expertise in a specific area of the student's research and can provide additional guidance and support.

At the commencement of the Thesis/Dissertations, supervisors and students should consider the following issues:

- Both should agree on the frequency of supervisory meetings and methods of communication such as face-to-face, emails, or and via the SULMS forum.
- Face-to-face meetings should be at least twice a month in a normal situation, but meetings can be more frequent when required.
- The supervisor is responsible for managing the Thesis/Dissertations progress according to the agreed timeframe for completion of the dissertation with the PG student. The Thesis/Dissertation timeframe must be agreed on from the start.
- Discuss ethical issues for consideration in the research dissertation. If the Thesis/Dissertation requires ethics approval before initiating the research, students must complete and submit the required Ethics Approval form to the Ethics and Biosafety Committee.

7.2. Progress Reviews

- The supervisor should minute the supervision session and
- Recommendations to measure postgraduate students' progress.
- At the beginning of each supervision session, postgraduate students should be reminded of the supervisors' previous recommendations and notes.
- The Progress Report Form is the most convenient way to record and keep track of supervision minutes. Copies of these forms should be sent to the PG Centre.

7.3 Responsibilities

7.3.1 Supervisors' Expectations of Students

- Guiding and advising the student on the selection, development, and scope of a research topic suited to the degree level.
- Discuss with students their preferred and relevant ways of working. Set clear boundaries for issues such as attendance, working hours and leave;
- Maintain contact at regular meetings with the student, either individually or at a team, to support and monitor progress.
- Ensure students are making progress with their development, have attended mandatory core training, and are maintaining proper records of their progress;
- Inform students of any lengthy periods of absence during the vacation and periods of research leave.
- Evaluate and manage applications, arranging and leading the formal interviews of all appropriately qualified students for relevant research projects.
- Confirm during supervisory meetings that the student understands whether research is progressing at the appropriate level and speed for successful completion.
- Advise on ethics, ensuring approval is in place when required and that the research conforms to agreed principles, and check and sign off the student's application;
- Ensure the student is aware of academic misconduct, plagiarism and the implications of any misconduct.
- Advise on appropriate dissemination activities and encourage the student to publish findings and present their work, both internally and externally.
- Be the initial point of contact for student issues and complaints.
- Clarifying and defining supervisory roles, responsibilities, and expectations and encouraging the student to identify academic goals and career aspirations.
- Ensuring that the student is meeting milestones and, in cases where delays threaten timely progress, developing a mutually agreeable strategy to address obstacles and remove barriers to progress.
- Reviewing the student's submitted work and providing timely (normally within 2 weeks) and constructive written feedback to help the student learn, improve ongoing work, and achieve the standards for quality and style to which theses, conference presentations, and papers for publication must conform.
- Discussing student's next steps and offering support and guidance as they transition to career or further study.

7.3.2 Students' Expectations of Supervisors

The research student should:

- Maintain regular meetings with your supervisor to provide updates on your research progress, propose solutions to issues that may arise (e.g., unexpected findings, equipment problems), discuss funding opportunities (e.g., scholarships)
- Keep regular formal contact with the supervisor
- Keep copies of meetings and discussions on their research each time they meet with the supervisor.
- Make sure to turn up on time and have regular meetings with the supervisor
- Maintain the work's progress in accordance with the stages agreed with the supervisor, including completion and presentation of written material as required in time to allow for comments and discussion before proceeding to the next stages.
- Be familiar with the policies, procedures and regulations of the department/program and the University (e.g., annual reports, registration, and format of thesis/dissertation) and ensure that you obtain all required training (e.g., lab safety, research ethics).
- Participate in PG training courses offered by the PG Centre.
- Be aware of the professional requirements and expectations of the University in relation to the submitted Thesis/Dissertation
- Notify his/her supervisor of any problems that may interfere with his/her research.
- Request to meet the faculty's PG Coordinator for administrative or supervision issues after consent from the supervisor.
- Conduct the research in compliance with the highest standard of ethical, scholarly, and scientific integrity. Ensuring that Research Ethics Board approval is in place, if required, data are stored and records are maintained as required, contributions of others are appropriately acknowledged, and a knowledge mobilization/dissemination plan has been discussed and agreed upon with your supervisor.

7.4 Changing Supervision

- A Supervisor may request that the student be removed from the list of supervisees maintained by the PG Coordinator of each faculty. The Faculty Dean and the PG Dean should be consulted about the request. No decision will be made until the supervisor presents a convincing written report justifying the supervisor's choice.
- A student may also request a change in supervisor if there is a convincing reason for doing so. No decision will be made unless the cases is approved by the Faculty Dean and Postgraduate Dean.
- Change in supervision take a place according to the availability of supervisors on each faculty.

7.5 Responsibilities of Postgraduate Centre

- Training and monitoring of supervisors to ensure best practice and quality supervision,

- Introducing to research students University premises and services,
- Providing access for students to the appropriate working space, facilities, equipment and resources, and
- Notifying students of the procedure and timelines on supervisory processes, including the requirements for making adequate progress with their studies.

Research Support Services

جامعة صحرار
Sohar University

8.1 Training and Interpersonal Development

The Postgraduate Centre offers several PG training workshops during each academic year to the PG students to develop their academic skills, research skills and interpersonal skills. See workshops list.

8.2 Postgraduate Center seminars

A research seminar is an academic event where researchers, scholars, and students come together to present and discuss research findings, theories, and ideas in a particular field or topic. Research seminars can take place in various formats, including face-to-face meetings, webinars, or online conferences.

The primary purpose of a research seminar is to provide a platform for researchers to share their work with others in their field, receive feedback, and engage in scholarly discussions. Presenters typically deliver a presentation on their research, followed by a question-and-answer session where attendees can ask questions and offer feedback.

Attending a research seminar can be beneficial for research students. Research students can receive valuable feedback on their work, gain exposure to innovative ideas and approaches, and network with other researchers in their field. Research students can learn about the latest research findings, expand their knowledge in a particular topic, and connect with other scholars and researchers.

Sohar University research students are required to deliver seminars on their research topics or attend related seminars out the University. Student research interested in attending a seminar should consider applying for Seminar Support, see conference/seminar form.

8.3 Research Conference Support

The University provides funding and support for Research Conference Support that can be used to help research students attend and participate in conferences. Attending a research conference can be a valuable experience for research students. It can provide an opportunity to network with other researchers, share their research with a wider audience, learn about new research developments, get feedback on their work, and gain exposure for their research. Research students interested in attending a research conference should consider applying for Research Conference Support, see conference/seminar form.

8.4 Three-Minute Competition

The Three Minute Thesis/Dissertations (3MT) competition is an academic competition open to current graduate students enrolled in Sohar University with fostering effective presentation and communication skills. Participants have just three minutes to explain the breadth and significance of their research project to a non-specialist audience. The challenge is to present complex research information in an engaging, accessible, and compelling way.

8.5 Research Networking

The process of establishing professional relationships and collaborations with other researchers and scholars in your field of study is referred to as research networking. This can include attending conferences, workshops, and other academic events where you can meet and network with other researchers and use online tools and social media to connect with colleagues and share information.

Here are some strategies for developing a strong research network:

- Attend conferences and workshops: Attending academic conferences and workshops is a wonderful way to meet other researchers and scholars in your field. These events allow you to present your research, learn about the latest developments in your field, and network with other attendees.
- Join professional organizations: Becoming a member of a professional organization in your field can provide you with access to a community of researchers who share your interests. Many organizations provide newsletters, online forums, and other resources to help you stay current on research and connect with other members.
- Use social media: Platforms such as Twitter, LinkedIn, WhatsApp and ResearchGate can be useful for expanding your research network. You can connect with colleagues and stay up to date on the latest developments in your field by sharing your research and engaging with other researchers online.
- Collaborate with other researchers: Working on projects with other researchers can help you build relationships and broaden your network. Seek out opportunities to co-author papers, organize workshops or conferences, or collaborate on research projects.
- Find mentors: Finding mentors who are further along in their careers can provide valuable guidance and support as you navigate your own research career. Seek out opportunities to meet with senior researchers who can offer advice and mentoring.

8.6 A Short-Term Exchange Visit Program

A short-term exchange visit is an exchange PG program in which the students are exposed to an intensive program that increases their understanding of their research themes and fields and as well, as might expose them to other cultures, communities, and languages in partners Universities or enterprises. Likewise, research students from partners Universities can join Sohar University for the same purposes. See Postgraduate Short-term Exchange Guideline.

8.7 ORCID accounts

ORCID is a free service that provides a persistent identifier for researchers. This identifier can be used to link your research outputs together, regardless of where they are published. ORCID also provides several other benefits for researchers, such as the ability to:

- Share research outputs with others
- Track students' research impact
- Get credit for student's research
- Protect student's research from plagiarism

Sohar University encourages research students to have an ORCID account. It is a free and easy way to improve the visibility and impact of their research activities. See Guidelines to Sign Up for ORCID accounts, please visit: <https://orcid.org/register> .

8.8 Intellectual Property Policy

As a research student, you typically own the copyright to your original works, such as research papers, theses, and dissertations, under "authorship" or "creator" rights. This means that you have the sole right to control and license the use, distribution, and reproduction of your work, subject to certain limitations under copyright law.

However, as a registered student at Sohar University, you must abide by the University's intellectual property policy, which states that the University owns the rights to your works as an SU student. As a result, you must sign the copyright form to transfer the right to Sohar University, and you may be required to obtain permission or rely on a fair use or other exception under copyright law.

8.9 Research Student's Workspaces

Research student stations are a dedicated space where research students can work on their projects. These stations typically have all of the necessary equipment and resources that research students need, such as computers, printers, and access to databases. They may also have meeting rooms and other spaces where research students can collaborate with each other and with their supervisors.

8.10 Postgraduate Research Grand (GRG)

Postgraduate students are encouraged to apply for research grand to promote their research skills and knowledge. See Application and Guideline

8.11 Research Governance and Ethics

To achieve the vision and fulfill the mission, Sohar University expects all staff and students to behave with integrity, objectivity, accountability, openness, honesty, and leadership in all actions and behavior. ## 13.2 Harassment

Harassment is any unacceptable behaviour such as unwelcome attention, intimidation, humiliation, bullying, and ridicule which targets an individual or a group and makes the continuation of work or study for the individual or the group unpleasant or impossible.

Harassment includes the following: sexual or racial harassment; harassment targeting people with disabilities, social class, or religion; any unnecessary, unwanted, or unwelcome advances, attention or propositions or comments; persistent demeaning or offensive jokes; unwanted comments about appearance; and degrading text messages on computer screens or elsewhere.

Harassment is taken very seriously by the University because it often occurs between people of unequal status. The harassed individual may face, for example, demands in exchange for favours, e.g., promises of better grades, promotion etc.

The University will ensure that all staff and students are familiar with the steps which will be taken to deal with such issues.

Anyone who believes that they are the subject of either harassment or bullying should report their concerns to their academic advisor, a senior member of the student's Faculty, a senior officer of the University, or the staff in the Counselling Section within the Student Services.

Formal action

If, despite the intervention of the advisor, the harassment persists or an incident is sufficiently severe, the individual should write a complaint and pursue the formal complaints procedure.

13.3 Student Disciplinary Procedures

Any breach of the Student Code of Conduct will be dealt with as outlined in the Code. This is a serious matter, and any student subjected to it is advised to seek assistance from the concerned persons.

For more details, read the Student Code of Conduct

13.4 Students Complaints Policy and Procedures

The University aims to provide a high standard of service to all students. However, problems do occur, and sometimes the service may not be up to student expectations. In such cases, a formal complaint may be made.

The University aims to deal openly, fairly, and effectively with any comments and/or complaints and offer an appropriate remedy to any student adversely affected by service.

The University seeks to continuously improve its services and regularly monitors any comments and/or complaints received from students to ensure the utmost effectiveness of its practices and procedures for addressing them.

If a student wants personal and specific redress on a particular issue, this is defined as a complaint. Wherever possible, efforts should be made to resolve a complaint at the local point where it arises, with the member(s) of staff concerned.

In general, all complaints can be lodged by the student through the SU Portal.

The University will not penalize anyone for making a complaint about services provided. Complaints will be investigated as fairly, openly and as quickly as possible. However, some complaints are complicated, and it may take some time to obtain the information needed to reach a fair decision.

Anonymous complaints cannot be dealt with because a response cannot be provided. However, the identity of a complainant will not be disclosed without permission. Complaints will not be recorded on the student's record.

The University recognises two types of complaints: Academic and Non-Academic Complaints.

13.4.1 Academic Complaints

The University recognises the following under the category of an academic complaint:

1. The Admission and Registration process and system
2. The timetabling of lectures, tutorials and examinations
3. A program or specific course (course content, documentation and materials, lecturer theatres, labs etc.)
4. A member of the teaching staff (or Lab technicians)
5. Academic advising
6. Learning Resources Centre
7. Learner support
8. Assessments
9. Grades
10. Absences
11. Academic probation and suspension
12. Academic Integrity

13.4.2 Academic Complaint Procedures

Suppose a student wants to comment or suggest improving one of the University's academic related services or a program of study. This can be done informally by raising it directly with either the Student-Faculty Representative or the Student Advisory Council, or the relative member of the Faculty staff.

Suppose there is a general complaint relating to a program of study. It may again first be addressed informally with those concerned or through the Student Advisory Council or the Student-Faculty Representative. Wherever possible, efforts should be made to resolve a complaint at the local point where it arises, with the member(s) of staff concerned.

If a student wishes to make a formal complaint, they can do so through lodging to the SU Portal.

A student may bring a friend or their Student Representative to any meeting to discuss a complaint. Permission, however, must be requested in advance to get someone from outside the University to accompany the student (complainant).

13.4.3 Non-Academic Complaints

The University recognizes the following under the category of a non-academic complaint:

1. Student activities
2. Student healthcare services
3. Student accommodation services
4. Student transportation services
5. University catering services
6. IT services
7. The campus

13.4.4 Non-Academic Complaint Procedures

Suppose a student wants to comment or suggest an improvement of one of the University's services. It can be done informally by raising the issue directly with the relevant staff.

However, if a student wants personal and specific redress on a particular issue, this is a complaint. Wherever possible, efforts should be made to resolve a complaint at the local point where it arises, with the member(s) of staff concerned.

If a student wishes to make a formal complaint, a specific form is available from the SU Portal.

You can learn more about the process and procedures in the non-academic complaint from Students Complaints Policy and Procedure.
